Great Public Schools for Every Student

Federal, State, and Local Policy Related to Bullying

Educator demonstrates an understanding of federal, state, and local law and policy regarding student bullying and what their responsibilities are regarding reporting and intervention.

Key Method

The educator completes research into state law and local policies that address student bullying in various settings, including cyberspace. The educator then analyzes these laws and policies to determine whether they address the core elements of a model policy.

Method Components

Social justice includes a vision of a society in which the distribution of resources is equitable and all members are physically and psychologically safe and secure. Pursuing a goal of preventing bullying behaviors and addressing them when they occur are essential components in achieving social justice for all of our students.

Although existing federal laws do not directly address student bullying, federal legislation and court rulings regarding various forms of harassment have been interpreted to apply in bullying situations. Furthermore, all 50 states and the District of Columbia have legislated bullying prevention/intervention requirements for schools and educators, and school districts throughout the country have implemented policies that meet or exceed such requirements.

Core Elements of Anti-Bullying Policy

Policy addressing student bullying should include:

- Statement of purpose for the district’s position against bullying
- Clear definition of bullying
- Responsibilities of stakeholders and instructions for reporting bullying incidents
- Description of the support(s) for targeted students
- Procedures and strategies for behavior reform including consequences for the bullying behavior
- Training procedures to address bullying prevention/intervention

Examples of protected groups include:

- Race
- National origin
- Marital status
- Sex
- Sexual orientation
- Gender identity
- Religion
- Ancestry
- Physical attribute
- Socioeconomic status
- Familial status
- Physical or mental ability or disability

Model Policy

Model policies provide state guidance, direction, and recommended standards to help local school systems create their own district and school policies or administrative regulations. Model policies may be developed based on requirements of state or federal laws. (See Resources section for examples of model policies.)

Submission Guidelines & Evaluation Criteria

To earn the micro-credential, you must receive a “passing” for Parts 1 and 3 and a “Proficient” evaluation for each artifact in Part 2.

Part 1. Overview Questions

500 word limit

Analyze federal court cases, your state’s law(s), and school district’s policy regarding bullying prevention/intervention. What terms to describe student behavior (i.e., bullying, harassment, intimidation) are used in your state’s anti-bullying laws and regulations?

Does your district policy/state law(s) address cyberbullying?

What protected groups are listed under your state’s anti-bullying laws and regulations?

Does your district policy explicitly include educational support professionals (ESP) in the prevention/intervention process?

After reviewing jury verdicts in your state involving bullying (see Resources) as well as landmark federal cases (i.e., Davis v. Monroe County Board of Education), do laws and policy in your state and district go far enough to deter bullying behavior?

- Passing: Responses completely address each question using supporting evidence Answer shows evidence that state and local laws/policy were researched by including evidence that responds directly to specific state and local laws/policies. Writing is organized and easy to understand.

Part 2. Work Examples / Artifacts

To earn this micro-credential, please submit the following:

- After identifying a gap in your state or local laws/policy, create a formal presentation of no more than 10 power point slides or 200 words that requests additions or revisions to the law or policy. The intended audience may be state legislator(s) or a local school board.
- A parent guide that details the district policies for bullying. No more than 2 pages.
Please include the following:

1. Consequences, procedures, and strategies that you and/or your school implements to prevent bullying behavior and
2. How faculty and staff intervene in the event of such incidents.

Part 3. Reflection

300 word limit

In your opinion, what are the consequences, procedures, and strategies for addressing bullying behavior in your district’s policy adequate for creating a safer environment for all students? If not, what would you recommend? How has your approach to bullying in your school changed after working on this micro-credential?

- Passing: Reflection shows evidence of learning and uses specific examples from personal and/or professional situations.
